

Table with columns for identification numbers, names, addresses, and various codes. The table contains a large number of rows, each representing a distinct entry with specific alphanumeric identifiers and geographical information.

